

Fremont goes green

By Fremont Bulletin Staff

0 COMMENTS

Amita Gowda, 8, of Green Kids Now, Inc., describes Earth-friendly alternate energy sources at Saturday's Let's Go Green Together Earth Day celebration, presented by Washington Hospital and the City of Fremont, at Washington Hospital West. Photo by James Sakane (James Sakane)

To promote a cleaner and greener environment, the City of Fremont and Washington Hospital marked Earth Day on Saturday with a free community event in the auditorium at Washington Hospital West.

Called "Let's Go Green Together!," there were eco-friendly experts sharing tips on how to go green, children's activities such as a bike rodeo, workshops and residential drop-off recycling. For more photos, visit facebook.com/fremontbulletin.

Click photo to enlarge

Sisters Connie and Helen Chang, from left, learn about ink cartridge recycling... (James Sakane)

